SCISSORS AND PENCIL

There is a rumor that Meredith is to have a new weekly, to be published in the interests of the gas wells. The prosperity exhibited by the News no doubt furnishes the promoters with the idea that "there will be millions in it." We shall be pleased to welcome the visitor with a kindly notice, free of charge, and publish its obituary notice at the usual rates.

Susan B. Anthony bobbed up in the National Council of Women at Washington Friday and remarked in her usual forcible manner that divorce was not an evil and was necessary to protect women from brutal men. And yet woman the world over continues to mate with man, brute though he be.

The Governor of New Jersey rises to remark that it would be unconstitutional to impose a tax on bachelors, men whom no maid would accept. Truer words were never spoken. But how would it do, in case of the fine being constitutional, to force the government to furnish wives for these unfortunates who do not know what they are missing in living a life of single unblissedness. Anything would do as long as it wore petticoats—white, black or yellow. Turnabout is fair play.

The following from the lips of Millionaire Stokes of New York City in a recent speech comes pretty near hitting the right spot:

"It seems to me that the church, and perhaps the world at large, is making a big mistake in concentrating thought too much on the future and too little on the present. Andrew Carnegie has said that if we have more churches to build in our home as to make our homes a heaven on earth, we should do better. I heartily agree with him."

The church is doing noble work, necessary work, but so few have returned from the Great Beyond to tell us about it, and so many come from the homes to tell about them, that it does sometimes seem that the church would make bigger strides if the lines advocated by Mr. Stokes were at least partially followed. But in this matter, as in others, every person has a right to his (or her) opinion.

Our beloved and strenuous President is supposed to be at the present time somewhere in the wild and woolly southwest hunting big game with the cowboys and camping out under what he calls the "blue canopy of heaven." He has not yet killed any wild hogs with tusks a foot long, nor big grizzly bears, nor fierce mountain lions, but he is camping on their trails and he will surely get them in due time. But he has seen a multitude of bloodthirsty jack rabbits and has killed a snake, not as St. George slew the dragon, but with his riding whip. And the whole country has trembled with enthusiasm as it read how a brave and dashing cowboy, riding a fiery, untamed steed which actually sweat blood, picked up a coyote about the size of a large domestic cat which had been run down by the dogs, and brought it in his arms to the President—an act which will live forever in the hearts of his countrymen. The President is reported to be well and enjoying himself hugely.

It is said that the Best Trust has been making an effort to fool U. S. Government inspectors by means of two sets of books—one for Government officials and another for business.—Exchange.

A sort of double entry system, it seems.

Meredith, N. H.

Dear Sir: What's the penalty for making or selling short-measure paint in your state?

And does it make any difference, if three-fourths of the paints are short measure?

Is seven pints a full gallon or a fool gallon?

What's the penalty for making or selling whitewash for paint.

Is whitewash paint, if mixed with a little paint and labeled "Pure mixed paint", or something like that.

But we don't intend to go into the business. We make Devoe lead-and-zinc full-measure and true.

Yours truly

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.

Sir Henry drew himself up with an air of wounded dignity. "Sorry, old chap—I meant, where did you meet her?" corrected his friend. "It was on Saturday. I was shooting at Mannington's."

"My dear Harry!" broke in Boldero, bending forward. "Muriel Mannington! Congratulations. Let's go into the smoking-room and drink them."

Sir Henry winced and put his hand admonishingly. "Boldero, I do wish, for heaven's sake, you wouldn't jump on," he said, "but I could never think of marrying her. She is ready molded; I must have a wife who has learned in my school of thought, who can begin with me to grasp the great possibilities of life and fight them through hand-in-hand by my side."

"You're not going to marry one of the bishop of Cranchurch's girls!" exclaimed Boldero, in astonishment.

"Is it like me to do a commonplace thing of that kind?" asked Sir Henry. "No," he continued, with rising heroics; "the girl who is to be my wife is young, open-minded, pleasant, if, beautiful—Jack, if you could have seen her, as I did, leaning against a tree in the wood, her golden hair against the brown shadow—she lives there, in the wood; her father is a balliff."

"Oh, I say, Harry, old chap! Just come down to earth for a moment and talk sense," interrupted Boldero, brutally. "Now you'd better put the matter in square language. You were out shooting at Mannington's place on Saturday and you saw the balliff's girl with her hair down—no doubt it had been washed—in the big wood; you had one of your—your amorous spasms, chuckled away the sport, made an ass of yourself—which you say you are not—less muddled between regenerated agriculture and the King Cophetua and the beggar maid business. Come down, man; come down, and break out into something less dangerous; invent a new service rifle—your mortal tomfoolery you like but trying yourself to an interesting rural life for the rest of your life."

Sir Henry arose with a stiffness of deportment unknown among the accomplishments of most young men of the present day. But, excepting in regard to his ties, his hat, and his coats, he was quite unaltered by his contemporaries.

"Good night," he said, with a crisp intonation.

"My dear fellow!" exclaimed Boldero, rising also.

Sir Henry Silvering turned his back and walked toward the door.

"I say!" called Boldero.

Sir Henry motioned with dignity to the clerk at the desk that his bill should follow him.

John Boldero whistled softly, raised his eyebrows and sat down again.

On the third day of his visit, Sir Henry decided that Lady Mannington was the right person with whom to consult, and he acted immediately. Greatly to the disappointment of his prescriptions, he found her out.

Coming away from the park, however, he met Lady Muriel with a pair of boisterous spaniels on a leash. They seemed the natural attendants upon her gay-hearted person, but Sir Henry rather resented the presence of all three—they did not in any way accord with his present frame of mind.

"I'm very nearly dragged to death," laughed Lady Muriel, exclaiming, "Been up to see mother? She'll be awfully sorry to have missed you. Won't you come later? Mother's sure to be at home again by five."

"Oh—er—thanks, it's very good of you," began Sir Henry, without his usual readiness; but it doesn't matter in the least; I only came up to—"

He paused abruptly, and Lady Muriel looked at him.

"Oh, don't mind me!" she cried, smiling; "I'm in the secret, and a most interesting party—she was one of my girls, you know."

"Your girls?" queried Sir Henry, uncertainly.

Lady Muriel shook her head emphatically. "I once had a class on Sunday, you see, and little Eva Shesley used to come—whenever she couldn't stay away. Oh, you mustn't mind," she went on, smiling the expression of confused discomfort that was overspreading her companion's features; "but she was rather a naughty little thing, and she had marks against her for bringing taffy into class was appalling at times."

Even if the girl had possessed any desire to disillusionize Sir Henry—which she did not—she would have been proceeding in a futile manner.

He pictured to himself a wayward spirit, and murmured, almost unconsciously: "She is very beautiful."

"She's a jolly, pretty little thing," continued the girl, heartily.

"I am very glad to do what I can, if you will let me," exclaimed Lady Muriel at length, rather breathless.

"No, will you?" responded Sir Henry.

giving a vain tug at his leash. "It—it it will help me a lot."

"Dear—dear little girl!" panted Lady Muriel, breaking into a run again.

Eight days after Sir Henry Silvering's departure, Boldero was sitting gathering useless information from an evening paper at his club, when he experienced a tingling tingle on the shoulder. It was not the only cause of his springing from his chair.

"My dear Harry!" he exclaimed, shaking a horny hand and regarding a sun-browned face. "How are you?"

"Splendid—splendid!" pronounced Sir Henry, with a newly-acquired agricultural rogue.

"And—er—the subject after their last parting?" asked Boldero, feeling the delight of the subject after their last parting.

"Splendid—splendid!" cried the other, with a grin of delight.

"And Miss—let me see. I don't think I know her name, Harry, do I?" inquired Boldero, cautiously.

"My dear Jack!" exclaimed Sir Henry, in amazement; "why, Muriel, of course—the only Muriel."

"Of course," repeated Boldero, and no one would possibly have known from the tone of voice that he was mentally taking himself by the snuff of his neck and shaking it, as he added: "My hearty congratulations, Harry, old man."

"Let's go into the smoking-room and drink them," easily suggested Sir Henry.

And this time they went.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How to Find Out. Fill a bottle or jar with your water and let it sit twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

MAIDEN ENTHUSIASM.
I spoke of poetry. She listened. While her eyes with pleasure glistened; As an oracle regarded Me, the when I interlarded My remarks with choice citations And some banal explanations. CHOOSING A WIFE

SIR HENRY SILVERING was a man of immense power and little fulsome; indeed, his intention to do so or to die and his inability ever to accomplish were so well known that he was playfully called "Sir Headstrong," not only by his intimate friends and enemies, but by the servants in the houses where he visited. Possibly no man had ever, at his age—which was 26—conceived as many imposing undertakings with an unshakable not of determination in his manner and allowed them to gently flicker out when he was satisfied that there was a remote possibility of their ultimate success.

At this moment Sir Henry Silvering was sitting at a dining table in his club, opposite his downright and unmistakably common-sense friend, John Boldero. Sir Henry had just made one of his sudden and wholly unexpected announcements, and with narrowed lids he was regarding the first development of ash at the point of a cigar.

"The device you are!" exclaimed John Boldero, bluntly.

"Yes—marry," repeated Sir Henry. "And then I shall go into parliament, take up agriculture, revive the British farmer, undersell the American market, and knock the fiscal fizzle on the head."

"Who is she?" inquired Boldero, looking at him keenly.

"She is one of nature's ladies," pronounced Sir Henry, with beautiful reverence.

Boldero laid his cheek upon his arm and groaned, for these were the very words that Sir Henry had used three years ago, when he had all but carried through his purpose of robbing a great London terminus of one of its most ornamental barmidies.

"And where is her—her place of business?" asked Boldero, with a broad grin.

"Even if the girl had possessed any desire to disillusionize Sir Henry—which she did not—she would have been proceeding in a futile manner."

He pictured to himself a wayward spirit, and murmured, almost unconsciously: "She is very beautiful."

"She's a jolly, pretty little thing," continued the girl, heartily.

"I am very glad to do what I can, if you will let me," exclaimed Lady Muriel at length, rather breathless.

"No, will you?" responded Sir Henry.

LA GRIPPE—PNEUMONIA

So many people who have apparently recovered from an attack of La Grippe are stricken with Pneumonia. This is due to the fact that the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs are left weakened and unable to resist disease.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

not only cures La Grippe Coughs, and prevents Pneumonia, but strengthens the Lungs so they will not be susceptible to the development of serious lung troubles. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation that may contain some harmful drug when FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR costs you no more and is safe and sure. Contains no opiates.

I had a bad case of La Grippe about ten years ago which left my Lungs so weak that I have been troubled more or less every winter since until I used FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, which cured me completely and my Lungs no longer trouble me.—J. H. BROWNING, D.D.S., Orisk, Mo.

G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of La Grippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and it gave immediate relief."

SCISSORS AND PENCIL

The Warren News is making a strong fight for a new school house, in spite of the fact that many are kicking against the project. Look out, brother. Those who shiver with fear when a $2,000 school building is mentioned might threaten to start a paper just because the News doesn't agree with them. This is a sad world for editors, neighbor. What with subscribers that want pay up and curses from those whose newspaper are obliged to disagree with, sawing wood or occupying a pulpit would be an easier and more profitable occupation.

The eyes of the country are now focussed upon Kansas to a great extent in its fight with the Standard Oil Company. Of course Kansas does not expect to put Rockefeller out of business, or even to affect the sales of Standard oil to any extent, but the state is fighting for a principle and its people are willing to spend $400,000, so it is said, to find out what can be done. At any rate, the people will be informed of the actual cost of production and small concerns will be assured of fair play and small concerns will be assured of fair play and reasonable transportation rates, at least in Kansas. It would seem that the spirit of John Brown is still marching on in the state of his nativity.

The Granite State still clings to Fast Day, but its significance is not recognized by the majority of her citizens. Schools and banks close. Business goes on as usual.—Journal-Transcript, Franklin.

This is just to remind you that Fast Day comes tomorrow, otherwise you might not notice it.

The Laconia Democrat, which must speak with authority in matters concerning its party, says that the $100,000 of Rockefeller's that has caused so much discussion would be accepted by almost any Democratic campaign committee and no questions asked.

A lady reporter has been interviewing a large number of her sex on the cost of dress and has evolved the information that the indisposables of a woman's shopping may be maintained on $65 a year. All shopkeepers know that some women can shop every day in the year and not spend $65. But there are the women who make sick the heart of the storekeeper.

It will be just as well for the Meredith Electric Light Co. to cease operations, after all. After fighting a number of citizens for a year and coming out of the battle as the biggest toad in the puddle, now comes the awful intelligence that a Chicago man claims to have produced a 36-candle power light by chemicals, which he encloses in air-tight glass globes, and the pesky thing never goes out or grows dim. There is one consolation, however. Gasoline will have to share the fate of electricity as a system of illumination.

The master of the state grange has appointed June 17 to be observed as Children's Day by all subordinate granges in New Hampshire. This is undoubtedly the most delightful season of the year in which to entertain the children, and on that particular day may be appropriately repeated the story of the place where Warren fell. It is an agreeable way of the teaching history to the young folks.

The U. S. government is sending out experts to teach the rural mail carriers how to keep their horses on $10 per month. Perhaps in due time Uncle Sam will send out experts to teach fourth-class postmasters to live on small salaries by demonstrating that the postmaster's old trousers can be cut down to make a new pair of trousers for one of the boys.—Laconia Democrat.

When you are raking up the back yard and collecting the debris from last year's garden, be sure to burn all the refuse, as in that way you may destroy many germs, weeds and other things that are wont to flourish like the green bay tree. And while you are about it, see if there are any worm nests or indication of brown tail moths in your trees.

It really won't do for Teddy Roosevelt to remain in the West hunting the fierce denizens of the forest the proposed two months. During his absence the Democrats made almost a clean sweep in Oyster Bay, his native heath, electing their ticket, with the exception of town clerk. Encouraged by their amazing success the Democrats may imitate Napoleon and seek for other worlds to conquer.

A prominent Jew says that President Roosevelt is a friend of the Jews. Well, why not? Haven't Jews the right to vote?

Young Mr. Garfield, the Chief of the Bureau of Corporations, is also hunting in the West. He, however, is a still hunt for Standard Oil frauds in Kansas.

often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele, of Columbus, O., "caused me great pain. Physicians were helpless, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly healed it." It soothes and heals burns like magic. 25c at C. W. Morrison's, druggist.

Strength and Endurance

Are factors of the greatest success. No person can do full justice to himself without them. In no season of the year are they more easily exhausted than in the spring.

We need not discuss the reason for this here. It's enough to say there is one, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength and endurance, as thousands annually testify.

DEAR SIR:—Some time since I was troubled with blotches coming out on my breast, of a scrofulous character, and my general system seemed to be out of order. I was induced to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The first bottle drove the eruption away and I feel better every way. It is a splendid blood medicine.—Henry S. Eldridge, Rochester, N. Y.

Living and Learning.

The longer I live and the more I see, The truth of these words comes home to me:

The more you do from day to day To favor some people, the more you may.

The more you stand for what is right, The more of evil you have to fight. The more of peace you try to make, The greater the cursing you have to take.

The longer I live, the more I see, How very ungrateful "some people" can be; Tho' you do many favors, deny but one, There's no more to your credit than when you begun.

I must confess it raises my ire To read about "heaping coals of fire" On the heads of those with whom you deal; Some skulls are so thick they'd never feel.

And all your labor would be in vain, For you, not they, would feel the pain. They take each favor as their due, Thinking they owe no thanks to you.

The longer I live and the more I see How perfectly heartless—some children can be To parents who've labored day by day To smooth the path along their way.

And when grown old and needing care, They leave them alone their sorrows to bear— As I look on this I'm wont to say "Slaving for children doesn't pay."

But we'll all plod on the best we can, Fulfilling the law of God's great plan, Striving the golden rule to keep, Sowing good deeds for others to reap.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smith, of Perkins, Ill., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Life Pills, for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure. Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50c and 1.00 bottles at C. W. Morrison's drug store. Trial bottle free.

Grateful words from a Clergyman who suffered intensely from Skin Disease cured by D.D.D. Prescription

Randolph, Va., June 18, 1904.
D. D. D. Co., 20 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen:—Your letter of recent date received and contents noted. I rejoice and am glad to commend D. D. D. to suffer from skin disease. For three years I suffered, intensely, from a skin disease which developed on the back of my neck. Its growth was toward the scalp. Neighbors, prescriptions, salves and ointments were lavishly used. I at last found relief in D. D. D. used according to directions. It required just twenty bottles to effect the cure. I am no longer tortured, so I have no hesitancy in recommending to the world the worth and great virtue of D. D. D.

Yours truly,
REV. L. L. DOWLING.

D. D. D. costs but $1.00 per bottle and is guaranteed to cure any disease of the skin or scalp or money refunded.

What more can we say.

WEAK AND NERVOUS WOMEN

MADE STRONG AND WELL BY
DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

Woman's life is a tragedy. It is a succession of defeats. Through ignorance the first experiences of womanhood are encountered without the slightest preparation, and the nerves receive their first serious shock.

Nothing is done to relieve this young woman. No one seems to possess the knowledge which will aid her. The family physician makes light of her troubles and tells her that all women have them. She is a beautiful girl and should make a beautiful woman. Her disposition is sweet, her form and movement full of grace. Why can she not retain these gifts of nature?

She has sensitive nerves and every shock they receive leaves its mark on face or form or disposition—generally on all. She has some severe illness. Her courage is shaken by the prospect of constantly recurring suffering, and at twenty she is pale and thin, alternately cheerful and sad, but always nervous. Then she marries, new obligations are undertaken with additional strain on the nerves. A year or two further along she begins to have turns of being cross and snappy, and can't seem to help it. From this point on to middle age the lines of beauty are replaced by lines of care, and control of the nerves is presently entirely gone. There is a great pity in all this, for such a history is common.

Dr. Greene's Nervura

MAKES PEOPLE STRONG, VIGOROUS, AND WELL.

What a blessing Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is to such women! It sustains them in every trial and fortifies them for their daily duties. It makes women strong enough to do their whole duty without fatigue. It sustains the physical strength and the physical beauty and wards off nervousness by natural means. It is a perfect support at any stage of woman's life. The grandest medicine for weak and suffering women ever prepared.

MRS. W. A. TINKHAM, of Stowe, Vt., says:

"About six months ago I found myself in an extreme nervous condition. This has been gradually growing upon me for several years and I cannot tell what I suffered, it was beyond description. I got no rest or sleep nights and my work was done in constant agony. I imagined there was some impending evil constantly hanging over me, and could not rid myself of the idea that insanity was in store for me. I knew better than to do lots of things that I did not but could not help it. I was indeed a wreck, and was on the point of giving up in despair. I employed physicians who did me no good and my condition continually grew worse. Finally a friend advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I commenced taking it and before using the first bottle up there was decided improvement. I have now used most three bottles and am entirely cured of all my troubles."

The discoverer of this health-building remedy is Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, and all women may consult him, personally or by letter without charge. The young, middle-aged, or old will find his advice the promptest and surest help. Write freely for advice or call.

T. L. Wadleigh was in Boston on business Saturday.

Mrs. Emma Wilson was in town over Sunday.

The News is informed that another doctor is to locate in Meredith.

Mrs. L. O. Hawkins of Lakeport was in town for a few days recently.

Miss Marion Leavitt is home from Stoneham, Mass., for a few weeks.

Cecil B. Rollins is working in the News and and Critic office at Laconia.

Miss Helen Pynn is enjoying her annual vacation in the vicinity of Boston, and Mrs. Eva S. Blake is taking her place in Mansfield's store.

A few flurries of snow fell Monday, reminding us that winter lingers in the lap of spring. And we may get enough snow within a few days to further convince us that the lingering process is of the prolonged kind.

Mayflowers are on the market in small quantities, but by the end of this week they are expected to bloom in endless quantities. On Saturday, April 8, Will Cox picked a large bunch, but he was one of the fortunate ones.

It is an open secret that one of the officers of the order of the Knights of King Arthur will soon become a benedict. The marriage, it is understood, will take place in Nutting's hall, the meeting place of the lodge, and the groom will wear his robes of office.

The annual convention of the Belknap Co. Sunday School association takes place in the M. E. church, Tilton, Friday, May 8. A very interesting program has been prepared. There will be three sessions, at 10 a.m., 1.30 and 7.15 p.m.

Geo. H. Thurston returned from Baltimore a few days ago. It was his intention to have remained all summer there, but building operations are not brisk owing to the fact that building materials cannot be secured in sufficient quantities to supply the demand.

Rufus Dow and Clarence Clark of Laconia and Hon. H. B. Quinby of Lakeport were among those who attended the funeral of Geo. H. Clark Monday.

There was an unusually large attendance at the meeting of Lakeside lodge, D. of R., on Friday evening. This may have been due partly to the fact that the new piano was to be heard from for the first time. It was played during the evening by Miss Lettie Berry and all the members were much pleased. The degree was conferred by the staff upon two candidates, the work being nicely done. A handsome piano cover was presented by Mrs. Sarah Beede, but as she was absent, the presentation speech was appropriately made by James D. Bartlett. Ice cream and cake were served after the meeting.

On Wednesday evening, April 12, the council fire of Algonquin Tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men was kindled to receive an official visit from Great Sachem Samuel F. Davis, of Manchester, of the Great Council of New Hampshire. There was a large number present. During the evening Great Sachem Davis gave a long talk the condition of the order in the state, stating that it was in a prosperous condition. During the winter he had instituted two new tribes in the state and more to follow during his term as Great Sachem. Later in the evening corn and venison were served. Much interest was shown by all present. It is expected that several Falelces will be adopted into the tribe soon.

The Knights of King Arthur will hold a special convence at Nutting's hall Thursday evening of this week. All members in good standing are requested to be present.

Masonic lodge meets this evening. The R. W. D. D. G. M. and the R. W. G. L. will be present and the E. A. degree exemplified.

M. C. Brown has for sale eggs for hatching from White Wyandotte, R. I. Red, Barred Plymouth Rock and Buff Plymouth Rock hens.

We have been obliged to leave our items from outside towns and Meredith this week on account of lack of space.

The Sunday School convention for this district will be held at the Free Baptist church on the 27th of April. Look for the program in next week's paper.

The News will send out a few hundred accounts shortly. Times may be good in this glorious Republic, but it doesn't seem so when one tries his hand at collecting money.

Understanding that the single men meant to "kill the ball" tomorrow, a private detective (well known here) has been engaged to capture the offenders.

Rev. and Mrs. G. I. Bard are to leave this week for New York, and will possibly visit Chicago, where they have a son living. The trip is taken on account of Mr. Bard's health, which is not of the best.

Mrs. W. S. Goodwin died at her home in Hyde Park, Mass., last Friday, after an illness of less than two hours the result of a shock of paralysis. Deceased was a niece of the late Captain Eleazer Bickford and resided in Meredith a short time after her marriage to Mr. Goodwin.

Mrs. Caleb Cox, whose serious illness was noted last week, died Monday at the residence of B. L. Dexter, where she has been residing for some time. She was one of the six oldest women who had a reunion and set for their photographs in September of 1903, and whose ages then amounted to 499 years. She was a woman who was always held in the highest esteem by all who knew her. She leaves two sons, W. S. Cox of Center Harbor and Wilmer E. Cox of Bristol. Funeral services will be held this afternoon, and body will be taken to Bristol for interment.

The married and single men met on the baseball diamond Fast Day, at 2 p.m. The bachelors have a definite advantage and they mean to play ball for all there is in it, but the married men are equally determined and a warm time may be looked for. Admission 15 cents and the proceeds go to the library. The players will be picked from the following stars: Chas. B. Martin, Edwin C. Mansfield, C. A. Burnell, G. H. Hall, A. Conside, C. E. Lawrence, E. Y. Duffield, B. W. Parshley, A. E. Donald, J. F. Ester, E. Quimby, F. M. Weeks, Harry Dow, L. S. Pease, E. C. Mansfield, B. Blaisdel, G. Pynn and others.

The Easter concert at the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock will be an occasion of unusual interest. The following program has been prepared:

Chorus, "Awake, O Earth." School Scripture reading and prayer, Pastor The Master Story, Margaret Roberts A Voice from the Flowers, Ralph Lee Class exercise, "He is Risen."

Little Texts, Delma Willey Easter Buds, Earl and Lloyd Lund Class exercise.

"Fair Lillies We Bring You." "A Sure Way." Johnnie Fifield "Easter Bells." Raymond Watson "Spring is Here." Blythe Eaton Part II. "A Sacred Cantata."

THE CAPTIVE. Introduction by the Pastor. Characters: Capture, Mary Pynn; Spirit of Light, Mildred Moore; Spirit of Darkness, Effie Hickok; First Knight of Truth, Perry F. Ellsworth; Second Knight of Truth, Leander Pynn; chorus of young people.

The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the close of the concert.

DEATH OF GEO. H. CLARK.

By His Demise Meredith Loses One of Its Most Prominent Business Men.

When the whistles blew at one o'clock Friday afternoon they conveyed a message to the residents of Meredith that one of its oldest and most prominent citizens had ceased to live.

Geo. H. Clark was born in Moulton-boro seventy two years ago, and we understand, conducted a sawmill there. In the year 1853 he came to Meredith and was first employed by the late Seneca Ladd in the manufacture of pianos, but some forty-six years ago, in company with his brother, J. S. Clark, commenced to manufacture and deal in lumber and building materials of all kinds, sash, doors and blinds, hosiery boards and other articles. The business thrived, thanks to Mr. Clark's business ability, and the firm is at present recognized as one of the most solid of its kind in this section.

Business engrossed almost the entire time of Mr. Clark, and he never accepted a political office, although he was one of the pillars of the Republican party, giving his counsel and aid in almost every political fight indulged in for many years. He was noted for his business ability and the quiet manner of his life, rarely indulging in pleasure trips. His kindness of heart was also one of his strong characteristics.

His wife died a number of years ago, and he never remarried, taking up his residence with his brother J. S. Clark.

Deceased was a member of Chocoma Lodge, A. F. & A. M. He left no children, and is survived by his brother and one sister, Mrs. Clough of Concord.

Mr. Clark was a victim of the town hall disaster, which old residents remember so well. He was taken out of the ruins in such a condition that he was thought to be dead, and suffered from the terrible injuries received for months.

The funeral services took place Monday afternoon at the house. They were of a most simple character, typical of the man over whom they were being held. Rev. Justus Perkins read a few passages of Scripture, and Rev. G. I. Bard reviewed the life of the deceased. The beautiful Masonic service was then rendered by Worshipful Master Bradbury Dearborn. The Masonic service was also rendered at the grave. The bearers were N. G. Plummer, G. F. Smith, Willis Mead and James D. Bartlett.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA
Clears the Complexion.

THE CHARM OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

The sweet promise of youth! How often it turns to ashes through neglect at the critical time!

Mrs. Josephine Townsend, 19 Clark Face, Jersey City, says:

"It is with pleasure that I write this testimonial in behalf of my daughter Lillian, who was very sick. Our doctors said her blood had turned to sugar at the critical time of womanhood. She could not walk or stand, but had to lie in bed almost all day for five long months. Our doctor did all he could for her, but she got worse all along. I was anxious about her, and in fact, all our family were almost crazy to think she would die so young."

"I had heard and read so much of DR. GREENE'S NERVURA BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY that I went and got a bottle. On the second day I saw an improvement in her condition. I was overjoyed and kept on and got another bottle, and when the second bottle was used she apparently came back to life."

"I can't express my heartfelt thanks for I am sure that Dr. Greene's Nervura saved her life. This was some three years ago, and now she is well and strong; I say God bless Dr. Greene and his wonderful medicine, and I will praise it to all the world the rest of my life for saving my daughter's life to me."

How many mothers to-day are worried to death over their daughter's ill health! What multitudes of young women are letting their lives be sacrificed!

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY is the great strengthening and helper for weak and nervous women. It preserves beauty, and saves lives. Don't be without its benefits if you need help. Get Dr. Greene's advice. It is free if you write to or call at 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

No other medicine can like it, no other medicine has done so much real, substantial good, no other medicine has restored health and strength at so little cost.

"I was troubled with scrofula and came near losing my eyesight. For four months I could not see to do anything. After taking two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I could see to walk, and when I had taken eight bottles I could see as well as ever." BRUCE A. HAZEN, Withers, N. C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promises.
